

NEWS RELEASE

Nancy J. Dragani, Executive Director
Ohio Emergency Management Agency
2855 West Dublin Granville Road
Columbus, Ohio 43235-2206
www.ema.ohio.gov

Contact C.J. Couch, Chief of Public Affairs at 614-799-3695
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE- January 4, 2007

Ohio Emergency Management Agency Establishes Web Link for Ohio's Education Institutions Offering Certificates, Degree Programs in Emergency Management, Homeland Security

COLUMBUS- The Ohio Emergency Management Agency is announcing the creation of a Higher Education Resources link on the web site www.ema.ohio.gov. By clicking on this link, individuals from both the public (government) sector and the private (business and industry) sector who work in the field of emergency management or who are considering a career path in emergency management, information related to post-secondary education coursework or degree programs offered at Ohio's technical schools, colleges and universities.

“We recognize the value of formal training in emergency management and homeland security,” said Nancy J. Dragani, executive director for the Ohio Emergency Management Agency. “The Ohio Emergency Management Agency created this page in an effort to ensure that people are aware of the tremendous educational opportunities offered right here in the state of Ohio.”

###

Editors Note:

The web sites listed on the Higher Education Resources page are provided as a service to individuals seeking information regarding educational opportunities. The Ohio Emergency Management Agency does not recommend one educational institution over another. Questions about courses or programs should be directed to the individual educational institution.