I. INTRODUCTION

A. Purpose: This plan outlines how primary and support agencies under ESF-14 will prepare to supplement local recovery and mitigation actions. Should the disaster or event require implementation of state, federal or non-governmental agency programs, the State of Ohio has established Recovery Support Functions (RSFs) and developed RSF Strategies to address the specific topics of Housing, Economic Recovery, Infrastructure Support, Health and Social Services and Natural and Cultural Resources. The term non-governmental includes a wide variety of agencies, corporations and faith-based organizations that provide recovery assistance.

The Partner agencies listed above have no actionable missions within ESF-14, but may within other ESFs and do within the RSFs; therefore, the agencies are listed in order to highlight their involvement in the different Recovery phases.

B. Recovery Phases

1. There are three Recovery phases. Actions taken in any of the Phases could happen without activation of the State Emergency Operations Center or any other ESF. ESF-14 operations are unique in that actions taken under ESF-14 could transition into RSF activities.

   a. Response Phase – Recovery actions during the Response Phase address essential and immediate community and citizen needs by restoring vital services, stabilizing the incident and preserving property. These actions allow a community to begin the recovery process. In this phase, recovery actions could fall under the roles and responsibilities of a number of ESFs. For example, debris operations carried out under ESF-3 missions could be considered recovery operations. Response Phase recovery actions could include, but would not be limited to:
(i) Debris operations
(ii) Provision of mass care and sheltering
(iii) Addressing immediate health and social services needs
(iv) Reopening of vital facilities, such as schools, grocery stores, day cares, etc. that allow a community to return to their day to day schedule

b. ESF-14 Phase – Recovery actions taken under this Phase would be transitional to the RSF Phase (see below). These recovery actions could include, but would not be limited to:

(i) Damage assessments for purposes of seeking supplemental financial assistance
(ii) Providing guidance and support to local and county agencies that administer programs with state or federal oversight (local health departments, county job and family services, etc.)
(iii) Determining what health and social services, housing, infrastructure, economic or natural and cultural resources issues may need supported during the RSF Phase
(iv) Permitting and technical assistance to facilitate community recovery, e.g. Ohio EPA providing permits to local water/wastewater facilities as they make infrastructure repairs

c. RSF Phase – Recovery actions coordinated by the RSF agencies and the applicable Recovery Strategies (Tabs to ESF-14). RSF Phase actions can take months to years to complete. RSF Phase recovery actions include, but are not limited to:

(i) Repairs to homes, businesses, governmental and non-profit facilities
(ii) Effective administration and closeout of financial assistance programs
(iii) Case management for individuals with unmet needs
(iv) Permitting and technical assistance to facilitate community recovery

C. General Recovery Needs – Understanding the needs of a community is critical to the development of appropriate structures, plans and partnerships to support recovery. Specific needs will vary by event and community, and need to be assessed holistically following an event.

1. Individual needs could include, but may not be limited to:

a. Temporary housing (rental assistance or other temporary housing).
b. Home repair/rebuild assistance (real property and mechanicals).
c. Medical, dental, funeral assistance (including the replacement of durable medical equipment).
d. Personal property (clothing, household items, furniture, appliances) replacement assistance.
e. Transportation or vehicle replacement assistance.
f. Replacement of job related tools and specialized/protective clothing.
g. Moving and storage assistance.
h. Legal assistance.
i. Insurance claims assistance.
j. Mental health needs.
k. Employment related assistance.
l. Food replacement.
m. Agricultural support for farmers and ranchers.
n. Assistance to mitigate against the effects of future events.
o. Measures to protect and stabilize records and culturally significant documents, objects, and structures.

2. Government needs could include, but may not be limited to:

   a. Recovery planning support.
   b. Debris operations cost recoupment.
   c. Legal and contract support.
   d. Economic/Business stabilization support.
   e. Reimbursement for emergency protective measures taken in the response phase.
   f. Assistance to support repairs to roads, bridges, and other infrastructure.
   g. Assistance for damaged public buildings.
   h. Support for public healthcare facilities.
   i. Assistance for damaged equipment.
   j. Insurance claims assistance.
   k. Support to ensure environmental and historic considerations are taken throughout recovery.
   l. Assistance to mitigate against the effects of future events.
   m. Measures to protect and stabilize records and culturally significant documents, objects, and structures.

3. Business needs could include, but may not be limited to:

   a. Recovery planning support.
   b. Insurance claims assistance.
   c. Economic/Business stabilization support.
   d. Assistance for damage to facilities, infrastructure, equipment, etc.
   e. Implement measures to protect and stabilize records and culturally significant documents, objects, and structures.

II. SITUATION AND ASSUMPTIONS

A. Primary and support agencies will follow their established procedures to conduct needs and damage assessments in order to identify disaster-related impacts and the types of supplemental assistance that may be needed to support local recovery and mitigation actions.
B. The scope of recovery operations will be different for all incidents and could be driven by factors such as:

1. Ability of local government to recover
2. Concentration of damage
3. Amount of insurance coverage
4. Impacted population demographics (elderly, Appalachian, etc.)
5. Time of year in which the incident occurs (winter and/or the heat of summer can exacerbate the recovery process particularly if there are widespread power outages or inclement weather hindering response efforts)
6. Incident type (flooding is longer in duration than a tornado and this will drive the speed at which recovery can begin)

C. RSF operations may occur concurrently with ESF operations. RSF agencies will ensure proper staffing and reporting mechanisms for all their ESF assignments of responsibilities. The point of contact from a primary or support agency may differ under ESF and RSF operations.

D. ESF-14 agencies will be activated through the State EOC for assessment, response, and recovery operations based on the needs of the incident. Primary and support agencies will coordinate with one another to ensure the most effective use of personnel and equipment, to avoid redundant activities, and to cooperate on emergency response/recovery missions.

E. The Coordination Agency will regularly update RSFs 1-6 in coordination with primary, supporting and partner agencies.

F. Mitigation actions are addressed by the State of Ohio’s Enhanced Mitigation Plan.

III. CONCEPT OF OPERATIONS

A. In general, primary and support agencies will:

1. Identify and mitigate potential recovery obstacles during the Response and ESF-14 Phases, in collaboration with related ESFs
2. Prepare to continue ESF assigned responsibilities into the RSF Phase
3. Begin analysis and preparation to fulfill roles and responsibilities in support of the RSF Strategies
4. Identify need for and establishment of a State Long Term Recovery Committee (SLTRC)

5. Participate in the state-level coordination of damage and community needs assessments to ensure that infrastructure, health and social services, housing, economics and natural and cultural resources considerations are integrated into the post-disaster community planning process

6. Assess recovery-related impacts in relation to existing capabilities at the local and state levels

7. Identify gaps in local recovery needs that may require supplemental state or federal assistance
